

" Strength and weight are the primary factors when it comes to building successful multihulls " says Jim Gard, CEO of Fusion Catamarans Australia. " Since the introduction of the Multipanel products into the Fusion assembly system we have achieved not only both of these, but the optional veneer coverings and the fact that we can now have our internal kits pre-routed is a real bonus. We save over 300kgs on the conventional materials previously used. I will attach some construction pics and also the final product"
